The root cause of all the husband and wife jokes is the prevailing disharmony between them.

Most of the currently available guidance, tells husbands and wives, “what” they should be doing or not doing. They instead need help to learn “how” they will automatically do or not do what they should be doing or not doing.

Husband & Wife– The Closest Relationship...

Yes, It is the closest of all the relationships possible. This relationship holds the potential for deepest love, romance, harmony, utmost happiness, satisfaction, joy, fun, togetherness, even bliss. It is also the foundation of family, for socially accepted and permitted sex and procreation. There is also a biological urge and necessity.

When two people marry, they marry for some or all of the above reasons.

So They Marry And Become Husband & Wife...

They get married with all the fanfare and festivities. The honeymoon begins and comes to a rather early, sometimes an abrupt end.

Later on, typical scenes are... quarrels & arguments, domination, breakdown of communication, emotional outbursts, anger, frustration and many more. Well... if you are married we do not need any further elaboration here. Our initial expectation and the result we are getting are very far apart!!! I am not saying every couple’s experience is this bad, I can say with more certainty that it could be better and there is a big room for improvement.

This situation can be improved greatly by proper guidance and training to achieve harmony. Most of the currently available guidance, tells husbands and wives, “what” they should be doing or not doing. They instead need help to learn “how” they will automatically do or not do what they should be doing or not doing. In other words they need help to change their behaviors in a mutually complementary way. Obviously this will bring about better harmony.

Tell Us How We Can Do It...

Learn how mind operates and learn how to “Configure Mind” for harmony in families. If the current configuration is not working out, change it for better and you can have harmony.

You have known desktop, laptop and mainframe computers: But have you noticed “Necktop Computer”?

Our brain and mind, together work like a computer that sits on our shoulders.

“Necktop” programs need to be changed for better results in life.

What Do We Mean By Configuring Mind?

From the moment we are born, our mind gets influenced by every single sensory experience and the meaning that we make of it. It learns ideas, behaviors, beliefs, values, self-concept, information and skills. It also makes many decisions. All these result into a noticeable pattern of behaviors, which we call personality. In other words our mind gets configured and reconfigured. Most of the time it is happening unintentionally and subconsciously and we are not aware it is happening. Parental guidance and education are conscious efforts to configure/reconfigure mind in a desirable way.

Thus, for all of us, there is already a configuration of mind, which is the existing basis of our self-concept and our behavior traits. If we want ours and others’ behaviors to change and improve, we must reconfigure minds in a different way. In that sense configure mind, means reconfigure mind.

So Tell Us, Can We Configure Mind?

The answer is YES. That is what the Seminar is all about. Every husband, every wife, as also every individual today needs to know how to Configure Mind and benefit from it, but they are largely unaware of existence of such techniques.

"Configuring Mind" Is Useful For Husbands & Wives....

- Configuring Mind appropriately reduces, even eliminates common, everyday differences.
- The differences occur because of current configurations of both husband & wife.
- These differences and quarrels are not such that you would go to a counsellor or a psychiatrist to resolve. Most of your friends and relatives also have them but at the same time we will be happier if they do not arise at all.
- Husband and wife have already done their best to resolve these issues but they tend to reappear.
- Any determination done on conscious level is futile and fails because it does not make changes in the configuration at subconscious level.
- Once the mind is reconfigured, the changes tend to happen automatically. Hereafter no conscious determination or attention is necessary.

So Tell Us What Is NLP.

NLP or Neuro Linguistic Programming is science of creating excellence. It is a methodology developed by Richard Bandler and John Grinder in 1970's. It was further developed by many eminent scholars and thinkers. Over the years, NLP has proven its usefulness and gained popularity. Corporate world noted this and introduced NLP into their training programs.

Neuro refers to nerves in our body. Linguistic is the language we use. When we use language, it actually programs our mind and body at neural level. These programs then run automatically and influence our behaviors, beliefs, decisions, values and self-concept. And all these in turn decide our performance, success, happiness, health, relationships and financial wellbeing.

And What Is Huna?

While NLP is around for just 35 years, Huna is very old. Huna means "secret" in Hawaiian language. It is a system of many techniques and insights, that has been a closely held secret known only to a select few people known as "Kahuna". One of the reasons Huna was kept secret by Hawaiians is the enormous power that these techniques and insights hold. Now, it is slowly getting revealed.

While Huna techniques are generally easy to do, they are very subtle to understand its true power and potential.

At NLP & Huna Group we have discovered ways to use both systems in a complimentary and effective way.
